

something.txt

i am just trying to do something dumb. I don't like the word "killing time"
Time is precious how could you kill it and you also won't kill any time Automatically saved on line which is awesome. I need to learn and use these skills

If I just click the push button what will happen let's see

Is there a way that one click can save and upload to the cloud?